11 NEW YORK STATE HOSPITALS HAVE HIGH MORTALITY RATES, U.S. SAYS

Eleven of New York State's 270 hospitals had mortality rates in 1987 significantly higher than the national average, according to a Federal study of Medicare patients.

Dr. I. Milton Hudson tried to deliver me naturally for a pretty long time. Apparently I was a bit too big for mom, so they rushed her in for a cesarean after she'd been in labor for a full 24 hours.

Mom says they didn't give her an epidural, or that they didn't give her enough ... I don't really remember. Anyway, I'm not allowed to forget this.

LOCAL NEWS ■

Mom and Dad don't agree on much. That's why they're not married anymore. They did agree, however, that they'd like to have a kid, and on December 15th, 1988, they got one. I spoke with both of my parents to hear their accounts of the day's events, and they managed to contradict one another on nearly every point of discussion ... down to the very route they took to the hospital.

Excerpts from either conversation accompany their "respective" trips to New York Presbyterian along with local news, relevant contextual information and my own commentary.

5-YEAR-OLD BROOKLYN GIRL DIES

A five-year-old Brooklyn girl who officials said appeared to have been physically abused, died last night after she was found unconscious in her mother's apartment, the police said.

"There was a uhh ... a curtain between let's say ... mom's neck ... up to the ceiling and down the sides of the gurney she was on ... I went to stand up and they told me to sit down ... they said they'd lost too many fathers to fainting ..."

Responding to reports of a woman screaming, the police found the unconscious girl, Jessica Cortez, in Apartment 1-C at 300 Bushwick Avenue, where she lived with her mother and stepfather.

"... you hear the, you know, (slurping noise) ... because they're sucking the blood out of the incision ... you're behind a curtain and you don't really know what's going on ... "

The girl was taken by ambulance to Woodhull Hospital Medical Center, where she was declared dead shortly after arrival at 8:20 P.M., the police said.

Her mother and stepfather, who were not immediately identified, were taken by the police to the 90th Precinct station house for questioning, said Sgt. Raymond O'Donnell, a police spokesman. They were in the apartment when the police found the girl, he said.
