Dean's Message

The School of the Arts and Architecture at UCLA (UCLA Arts) plays a vital role in the cultural and artistic life of the campus and the community. Providing a full range of course offerings and programs, the School is comprised of six degree-granting departments: Architecture and Urban Design, Art, Design | Media Arts, Ethnomusicology, Music, and World Arts and Cultures, six centers: the Art | Global Health Center, the Art | Sci Center, the Center for Intercultural Performance, cityLAB, the Experiential Technologies Center and the Grunwald Center for the Graphic Arts, and The UCLA Herb Alpert School of Music (comprising the departments of ethnomusicology, music and musicology.)

Our three internationally acclaimed public arts institutions are the Hammer Museum, the Fowler Museum at UCLA, and a major performing arts program, UCLA Live. These institutions offer rich access to leading anthropological, historical and contemporary visual arts exhibitions and collections, as well as presentations by the world's most outstanding performing artists.

Over 800 undergraduate and 400 graduate students have unparalleled opportunities to learn from and interact with 100 distinguished faculty who rank among the most innovative artists and architects of our time. A balance of practice and theory, built upon the solid foundation of the liberal arts, assures an understanding of the interdependence between creativity, performance, and research. In educating the whole person, the School strives to motivate and empower its students to serve as cultural leaders of the 21st century.

Located in the Westwood area of Los Angeles, the School offers a truly cosmopolitan arena for study and experimentation that reflects the diversity of its students and faculty. Los Angeles, still young by most standards, continues to attract pioneers in the arts and sciences who embrace the forward-looking spirit, dynamism, freedom, and possibilities for innovation that characterize this city. While the heart of the school remains on the Westwood campus, its soul extends beyond the campus borders to the greater Los Angeles community with a wide variety of outreach programs designed by students, faculty, staff and alumni, and which center around concerts, exhibitions, symposia, and dance productions presented in cooperation with groups throughout Los Angeles.

Achievements in the arts and architecture will continue to provide, as they have in the past, the most intimate and inspiring chronicle of our civilization. They reveal imagination and community while pointing to our future. UCLA Arts is committed to the education and training of professionals whose vision and contributions will continue this legacy.

Admissions

There's a great big world in here. The UCLA campus supports, experiences, and celebrates more art, music, and culture than most cities: Performances by world-renowned musicians and theater companies. First-run sneak previews. World-class museums with unique art and cultural events. Programs from the world's largest university-based film and television archive. Six major performance halls and theaters for drama, dance, music, lectures, and special exhibitions. And this final cultural note: UCLA is 20 minutes from Hollywood. Fifteen minutes from the beach. And entirely surrounded by L.A.- the Capital of Now.

Headed by a faculty of renowned visual artists and performers, the School of the Arts and Architecture is a highly regarded center for creative expression and research. The curriculum combines practical training in visual and performing mediums with a broad-based liberal arts education. Students enjoy a variety of opportunities to perform and exhibit on campus.

If you are interested in learning more about the arts at UCLA, you may schedule a Campus Tour, or visit our Calendar to see when a UCLA Arts representative will be in your area.
